Cigarette Girls of Seville and Beauties at Bull Fight Are Seen.

The growing Spanish colony in this etty when united with the numerou native Friends of Spain makes a pubtis that is formidable in sice, as the enthusiasm last year over "The Land of Joy" performances sufficiently emphasized; and so there is every reason to suppose that this enthusiasm can be tapped for a new vein and that the Scanish paintings now on view in the Anderson Galleries and to be sold there on May 20 will awaken a general

The paintings were officially chosen and sent over here to represent Spain the Panama-Pacific Exposition in San Francisco and that they do very well. The two Spanish painters of most reputs over there, Zuloaga and Sorolla, are conspicuously absent from the col-lection, but in spite of their defection t is possible to refresh one's memorie agreeably of most of the famous types that make up the spectacle of modern life in Spain. The "matador" note is not sounded as heavily as though not sounded as heavily as though Zuloaga had been present, but the pic-turcaque beggars, the muleteers, danc-ers, gypsies, priests, and plains, aqueducts and lovely gardens are sufficient to cause a contagio contagion of nostalgia

From the point of view of style the be claimed by Count de Aguiar, F. Cabrera Canto and the brothers De Zubiaurre. The two brothers are equally interested in peasant types and place such an emphasis upon design that their anvases are quite mural. For that reason they stand out as effectively as any in the show. The still life in their pic-tures is handled skilfully and with realem, but liberties have been taken with stance, might get considerably agitated if he were to see how freely Sen de Zubiaurre had rendered the famous They may and must console emselves with the reflection that un-er cubism the aqueduct would have ared even worse. Thanks to the Spanish officials, who are the most conserva tive in the world, there is no cubism in Senor Canto's picture, called "Woman" Love," contains excellent painting. An old woman sits by the fire with her cat, and the spectator may interpret the worl as he pleases. The drawing throughout is spirited. Count de Aguiar's "Nathonal Type" is strongly reminiscent of the factorums who flourished in the time and in the pages of George Borrow. Among the subjects of perennial in-ferest is a glimpse of the famous ciga-rele girls of Seville, by Gonzalo Bilban; box full of beauties at the bull fight. one of whom throws down the key to the bullpen, to begin the festivity—this is by Francisco Oiler; and a gayly dressed group of peasants en route to the fair in Salamanca, by Carlos Vasthe fair in Salamanca, by Carlos Vas-quez. There is also a group of char-acteristic landscapes by Elisee Melfren and a clever picture of a formal garden by Jose de Casades.

for Mrs. Evelyn E. Kent Pratt, wife of Frederic W. Pratt. Mrs. Pratt died on Sunday. She organized the See Gate Auxiliary of the Red Cross in 1917. She lived at 702 East Nineteenth street. Brooklyn, and, in addition to her hus-band, is survived by two children.

THE oftener I come in personal contact with the workers in the gaining their loyalty and ness possesses.

> Let me tell you how the workers plan to make the work of Mr. Wilson and that of his associates in the official family easier, and to leave them free to handle the big problems which come before them every working day.

They have organized a COM-MITTEE OF 32, consisting of men and women members, who are elected to membership by vote of their associates in the several departments of the

Every member of the committee receives from his or her associates suggestions that bear on improving conditions in the plant, and then in committee meetings, which are held frequently, these suggestions are discussed frankly, and if by majority vote it is decided to make recommendations to the Official Family-it is done, there being present at all meetings a very able woman secretary, who transcribes, in concrete form, the recommendations made.

Here is a case of workers selecting men and women from their own ranks to represent them in all important matters affecting their interests-and the members of the Committee of 32 have the complete confidence of their associates. Whatever the Committee votes to do is always satisfactory to the workers in all departments.

I was privileged to be present at one of the meetings of the Committee of 32. I heard both men and women stand on their feet and talk straight from the shoulder. There was no misunderstanding what they said. They knew what they wanted to say and they said it. They voted to make some recommendations to the officials.

Then they invited me to talk to them, which I was glad to do because I believe thoroughly in the idea that all problems and difficulties in business can be settled by the workers themselves if they will honestly and sincerely cooperate with one another and state their case frankly to the heads of the

After I had finished talking, the Committee of 32, by unanimous ber-an honor that I prize very highly.

What is the result of all this, so far as the business of Wilson & Co. is concerned?

The first result-and the most important of all-is that the Committee of 32 succeeds in maintaining a splendid relationship between the workers and the officials. Mutual confidence and respect prevails con-

The second result-also very important-is that the speedy adoption by the officials of the recommendations made by the Committee of 32. puts the members on their honor and they make only such recommendations as are important. Trivial matters never get a majority vote in the Committee meetings.

The third result-also very important-is that the members of the Committee of 32 are more often concerned about making recommendations designed to benefit the business as a whole than they are about having something done to benefit

The Committee has brought about a condition of affairs which means contentment on the part of their associate workers and this, of course, makes them more efficient and more keen to serve the company honestly.

At the Committee meeting I attended one man had a good deal to say about the splendid work of the men in the Ham and Bacon departments - telling his associate members of their pride in producing the Certified Wilson Brands, and suggesting that every worker in every other department should make it a matter of personal honor to assist in the preparation of food products that will always justify use of the slogan, "The Wilson La-bel Protects Your Table."

A woman, representing the Canned Goods department, informed the Ham and Bacon men that he and his associate workers were no prouder of their achievement in producing Certified Wilson Brands than she and her associate workers were in producing Certified Brands Canned Meats, Vegetables, Fruits, Table Delicacies, etc.

So it goes. Workers are keyed up in every department to produce the finest and purest Food Products and they are just as proud of the Wilson & Co. slogan "The Wilson Label Protects Your Table," as Mr. Wil-son is—and that means being some
